Introduction: (15th Sunday - Year 'C')

Today, we hear again the great parable of the Good Samaritan. In his parable, Jesus tells us that God wants us to care for one another. The priest and the Levite stand condemned for a sin, not of commission but of omission - they refused to help the man who had been beaten up. Sins of omission may be our worst sins, yet we do not always think of them as sins.

Today's Readings:

First Reading: (Deuteronomy 30: 10-14)

Moses urges the people to obey God's law, not as something imposed from outside them, but as something that springs up from inside themselves.

Response to Psalm: SEEK GOD, YOU WHO ARE POOR,
AND YOUR HEARTS WILL REVIVE.

Second Reading: (Letter of St Paul to the Colossians 1: 15-20)

Paul asserts the absolute supremacy of Christ.

Gospel: (Luke 10: 25-37)

The immortal parable of the Good Samaritan.

800th Anniversary of the Canticle of the Creatures -- 2025

This poem (the first in the Italian language) was written by St. Francis in 1225, a year before his death. Its opening words are "Laudato si" - the title Pope Francis chose for his encyclical on Ecology and Care for Our Common Home (2015).

Most High Almighty Good Lord,
Yours are praise, glory, honour, and all blessing.
To You alone, Most High, do they belong,
And no one is worthy to mention You.

Be praised, my Lord, with all Your creatures,
Especially Sir Brother Sun,
Who is daylight, and by him You shed light on us.
And he is beautiful and radiant with great splendour.
Of You, Most High, he is a symbol.

Be praised, my Lord for Sister Moon and the Stars.
In heaven You have formed them clear and bright and fair.
Be praised, my Lord, for Brother Wind
And for air and cloud and clear and all weather,
By which You give Your creatures nourishment.

Be praised, my Lord, for Sister Water,
For she is very useful, humble, precious, and pure.
Be praised, my Lord, for Brother Fire,
By whom You light up the night,
For he is fair and merry and mighty and strong.

Be praised, my Lord, for our Sister Mother Earth,
Who sustains and rules us
And produces varied fruits with many-colored flowers and plants.
Praise and bless my Lord
And give Him thanks and serve Him with great humility.

ST. FRANCIS
